The Research Presented

Thesis Title

The research is a master's thesis entitled "The Modified Impact of Cyber Risk on the Ratio between Banks and Investment Funds: An Analysis of Central Bank Rates" Abstract of the study There is a relationship between everything and independence and self-confidence, and analytical recipes have been applied, to use financial support in electronic banks only. The real goal of the research is to conduct a field study on the creativity of internal audit officers, credit management, customer service officers, IT officers and management officers among many people in the electronic financial cake market. The study reached a set of final final results, the most important of which are: The development in many cyber fields motivates financial institutions, and electronic banks in particular, to continuously and intensively search for preventive measures against these many through systems that make these measures more clear to the boards of directors of these banks, which leads to supporting the portfolios in these banks. Finally, the study recommended after the experts' recommendations, the most important of which are: Focus on analytical skills and problem solving. As a bank employee, you must have a commercial awareness of what is happening around you. You must also be a good observer of intelligence and various data. The employee must be an expert in discovering the problem of the European company. #EU Youth Euro Erasmus+ #DiscoverEuropeanOffice
